

The shy, retreating nature of this snake makes it hard to find. Should you come upon a snake, please do not kill or disturb it, but report it to the park staff, a campground host or call (618) 594-3015. Your cooperation is vital if we are to learn about this state endangered species.

The areas on and around Carlyle Lake are home to an abundance of wildlife, including the Eastern Massasauga rattlesnake, an Illinois endangered species. The Illinois Department of Natural Resources, in conjunction with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service initiated a study to learn more fully the habits, range and habitat necessary to sustain this protected species.
