

2016 Becoming An Outdoors Woman Workshops

June 10-12, Lorado Taft Field Campus, Oregon, IL
 Sept. 16-18, Touch of Nature Environmental Center, Carbondale, IL

The Illinois Department of Natural Resources invites you to join women from all over Illinois for a weekend full of adventurous outdoor activities. Try your hand at charting a course, calling a bird, shooting a bow, firing a shot, climbing a rock, catching a fish, paddling a canoe, cooking over a campfire and many other activities. Program instructors provide a supportive, safe, non-threatening and non-competitive learning environment.

Becoming An Outdoors Woman (BOW) is a program designed to give woman introductory experiences and instruction in various outdoor activities. Classes range from outdoor recreation activities to shooting sports to outdoor crafts and hobbies. Program instructors emphasize the basics in instruction while providing information on equipment, associated clubs and/or organizations, and additional training opportunities.
